Power Strike Threat At End In Pittsburgh

Arbitration Offer Of Duquesne Light Company Is Accepted By Union

DELAY HEARING ON INJUNCTION

BULLETIN
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—The original five-day temporary injunction which stayed off a power strike in metropolitan Pittsburgh last Tuesday today was made effective until September 24.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's threatened power strike was ended today following acceptance of the Duquesne Light Company's arbitration offer by its independent union, shortly before midnight last night.

The agreement to arbitrate contract differences came ten hours before the city was to seek a permanent injunction against the union and company to restrain the walkout, which threatened despite a temporary court restraining order.

To Postpone Hearing
Mayor David L. Lawrence announced immediately that the city will request a postponement of the hearing this morning until September 24.

The city obtained a temporary five-day injunction from Judge Walter P. Smart on Tuesday night, one minute before the crippling walkout was scheduled to occur.

Final approval of the arbitration agreement depended upon a vote by (Continued on Page Two)

Another modern street, White street, which has been in the process of receiving a new concrete roadway, will soon be thrown open for traffic to the motorists of the city. The street runs from South Mill street and joins onto Neal street, which has been recently paved.

Workmen were busily engaged on Thursday afternoon assembling steel and erecting a large tool house and office in preparation for the building of a large edifice on the Rosena furnace grounds. Many workmen of adjacent plants will have to secure a new parking place when the work gets under way.

In case you've forgotten, this is Friday the thirteenth. According to tradition, bad luck omens have a double significance on this day. A meeting of the Friday the thirteenth club is scheduled for tonight.

Surveyors were noted hard at work, Thursday afternoon, on the large lot on the North East corner of Taylor and South Mill street. The numerous automobiles parked on the lot made it difficult to survey the land properly.

Just about three weeks from now, the eyes of the world will be centered on the major league baseball diamonds. The famed World Series is scheduled to get under way. Present figures look as though a part of the games will be played in Boston, while the others may be played in either St. Louis or Brooklyn, depending on how the race turns out.

This is Friday, the thirteenth, so watch your step. Nothing will likely happen to you if you do, Pa. News knows of one local, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Long Range Bombers Will Carry Fighters

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—America's very long range atomic-equipped bombers of the future will carry their own high-speed fighters. It was learned today that the B-36, mightiest bomber yet developed by the army air force, has been especially modified to become literally an "aircraft carrier of the sky."

Thin, but well-armed, jet propelled fighters will nestle in the yawning bomb-bays of the huge B-36 and will be released for combat against opposing enemy aircraft when they are needed.

Revolutionary Development

The revolutionary development in military aviation now gives relatively short-ranged fighter craft an operating radius of nearly 5,000 miles—exactly equivalent to that of the B-36.

Contracts have already been let to a St. Louis aircraft company. It was disclosed, for production of the high-speed, bomber-borne jet protectors.

The craft, just 15 feet long, will have a top speed of more than 600 miles an hour. Single-place planes, their armament is a military secret as are most of the details of their projected performance.

However, with the 85-foot long bomb-bays of the towering B-36, it is understood each bomber can (Continued on Page Two)

BUTLER, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Four persons met death at 12:15 o'clock this morning when a speeding automobile left highway route 422 four miles west of Butler and crashed into a viaduct.

Wilbert Nulph and Dorothy G. Draper, both of Butler, and Florence M. Rosella, Slippery Rock, were dead on arrival at the Butler hospital. Jackson A. Crawshaw of Butler died shortly after being admitted to the hospital.

Police believed that excessive speed was evidently the cause of the fatal crash.

Terrorists Make Attack On Banks In City Of Jaffa

JERUSALEM, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Unidentified armed terrorists reportedly attacked two banks in the all-Arab City of Jaffa today, blowing up one, and then engaged in a gun battle with police.

A number of the bandits were said to have been captured. British troops were rushed to the town.

The banks involved were identified as Barclay's and Ottoman. The bandits reportedly obtained 20 thousand dollars at Ottoman. Part of Barclay's was demolished in an explosion.

Jaffa is adjacent to the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Friday, 13th

(By International News Service)
Today is the day of jitters. It's Friday—the thirteenth—the day when black cats walk under ladders—when seventh sons see the moon over their left shoulders—when horse-shoes break mirrors.

It's the day when you better keep your fingers crossed. It's the day of the mix. But likely as not, your luck will be better today than it has been in days.

In this day and age, who's superstitious, anyway? Er—excuse us, please, while we throw some salt over our left shoulder.

Believes Present Difficulties May Bring Reconciliation With Divorced Wife
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Barney Ross, former world's lightweight and welterweight champion, confirmed today that he believes a present reconciliation may bring about a reconciliation with Catv Howlett Ross, actress, who divorced him last July.

Ross is resting at Fernside, N. Y., before entering the U. S. Public Health Service hospital at Lexington, Ky., to take the cure for dope addiction, Ross said.

Cathy's on the way here. We ought to get together tomorrow. I hope we can stay together, for it will mean a lot to me.

Hundreds of friends and admirers of Ross who won the silver star as a fighting marine on Guadalcanal have offered him aid.

Barney asked for admittance to the U. S. hospital yesterday explaining he had started taking morphine because of a recurrence of pains from wounds and malaria and that he had "got over my head."

Clenmore School Second Grade Has Multiple Worries

Not satisfied with just one set of twins in the second grade of the Clenmore school on the New Wilmington road, teachers are having difficulty these days with telling just who's who of two sets of twins who are members of that class.

Sandra Lee and Sally Lou Hill, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Hill of R. D. 3, and John and Patricia Sowersby, twin children of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sowersby of Hazelroft avenue, are the cause of all the consternation among the teachers of the school. The Hill girls are the most perplexing with their identical attire and actions, which keep the teachers guessing at times.

Shipbuilding Probe Starts September 23

Huge Profits On "Shoe-string Investments" Are To Undergo Investigation
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The House merchant marine committee trained the spotlight today on the wartime shipbuilding program which netted hundreds of millions in profits on shoe-string investments for private operators of government-owned shipyards.

The committee scheduled September 23 as the starting date for its probe into the 21 billion dollar industry. Some 19 firms, including six Kaiser corporations, face the group's scrutiny.

Merchant marine committee aides said the investigation had the full co-operation of the United States Maritime commission and the shipbuilding companies.

Rep. Bland (D. Va.), chairman of the group, introduced and received congressional approval for resolutions authorizing this investigation during the past three congresses.

Bland would not comment on what considerations led him to proceed with the probe at this time. He said he had not consulted with the White House before giving the go ahead signal.

See Indication Of U.S. Lone Hand Role In World Politics

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Diplomatic observers in Washington today drew the conclusion from Thursday night's speech of Commerce Secretary Wallace that the United States is determined to play a lone hand in world politics.

Wallace's outspoken speech was delivered before a mass meeting in New York's Madison Square Garden. But advance copies had been distributed in Washington and, at this afternoon news conference, President Truman gave the address his complete endorsement.

The foreign policy speech of Wallace, unusual for a secretary of commerce, proclaimed against the United States being drawn into either the British or Russian spheres of influence.

Need U. S. Policy

Wallace took the position that neither Russia nor Britain wanted a war now. But, he noted, the aims of these two powers were such that the United States needed to develop an individual policy of its own which would enable it to avoid the conflict which might result between Britain and Russia. Wallace said: "To prevent war and insure our survival in a stable world it is essential that we have a clear policy."

British Are Upset By Sec. Wallace's Speech

By THOMAS C. WATSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A British foreign office spokesman, commenting on the speech delivered in New York by U. S. Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace, insisted today that Britain does not contemplate war with Russia.

British Upset
Wallace's speech landed on the British foreign office with obviously telling effect. The British were upset by the announcement that President Truman approved Wallace's statements before they were delivered.

The spokesman declared that the expression "war with Russia" appears more frequently in American newspapers than in the British press.

Wallace had said that British foreign policy was threatening to lead the United States into war against the Soviet. He suggested the U. S. evolve an independent policy.

Truman Approves
To this the British spokesman replied. "We have not had any indication that President Truman disapproves of our policy. There are many points where Britain and the United States see eye to eye, but Britain has (Continued on Page Two)

Scotland Yard Seeks To Prevent More 'Squatters'

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Scotland Yard set up an "operations room" today with maps used during the London blitz in its attempt to curb the still-threatening efforts by "squatters" to seize more unoccupied apartments.

Wall-maps were dotted with "squatters" red flags. During the blitz the flags read "bombe here". Police-cars are remaining in constant radio touch with their headquarters and bobbies walking beats are carrying "walkie-talkies" to assure instant reception of orders to ward off possible further invasions of property.

Squatters at fashionable Fountain Court sent a registered letter to King George VI at Buckingham Palace declaring they know of accommodations in apartments in Westminster and would move out if these places were made available.

Maritime Peace Plan Meets Only Partial Success

See Settlement Of A. F. L. Seamen's Strike, But C. I. O. Now Begins Walkout

SHIP TRAFFIC IS BADLY TANGLED

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The government's Maritime peace plan achieved only limited success today as the CIO carried on the paralyzing tieup of the American Merchant Fleet originally launched by the AFL.

The week-old walkout of the AFL seamen's union on the Pacific was ended on the West Coast several hours after Reconversion Director John R. Steelman amended the national stabilization policy to permit payment of its wage demands.

Striking members of the AFL Seafarers International Union on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts took no immediate back-to-work step, however, and the CIO National Maritime Union of 90,000 members promptly joined the strike.

To Picket Waterfront
Moreover, CIO workers planned to picket the waterfront on the West Coast, nullifying the settlement of the SUP strike if the AFL seamen respect the picket lines.

Occupation Forces In Germany May Get Probers' Visit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The Senate Mead committee today pushed its plans for sending a sub-committee overseas for a probe of military occupation policies in Germany.

But a fight still loomed on whether the inquiry would be aimed chiefly at the conduct of American Occupation Army officers or at the effect of breaking up the country into four occupation zones.

Announcement by Sen. Mead (D-N. Y.), chairman, followed a flap by Sen. Brewster, in which the Maine Republican, a committee member, accused Mead of running the committee as a one-man show.

Brewster wants the investigation to center on his charge that the conduct of "some high-ranking officers" in the occupation forces is bringing discredit on the United States in the eyes of the rest of the world.

White House Has No Knowledge Of Big Three Session

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The White House today disavowed any knowledge whatsoever of any plans for any new meeting of the "big three."

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked at his morning news conference whether President Truman's reluctance to commit himself on any plans for campaign speeches foreshadowed a new meeting of the "big three."

"I had not heard of any big three meeting," Ross said.

If you haven't got your name on the line, if you haven't qualified as yet to vote, if you've failed to do your duty as a citizen, then, my friend, perhaps you'll read this little note. Take a taxi or an auto or a bike, hit yourself up to the court house right away, register yourself to vote, let some other be the good, while the weather stands at seventy-three today. Now tomorrow is your last and final chance, and unless you hurry up and stir about, you'll be out of luck in November. Do it now while you remember or you'll have to sit this next election out.

Dairy Products Ceiling Prices May Be Restored

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Restoration of price ceilings on dairy products loomed today as the price decontrol board awaited the dairy industry's explanation of recent increases in butter and cheese prices.

The decontrol board meets next Wednesday to consider the reimposition of dairy controls. It has invited interested parties to submit their views in writing before that date.

Apparently alarmed at the jump in butter and cheese prices within the past three weeks, the board expects to study the evidence submitted by the industry and other groups to determine whether ceilings should be restored.

To Make Decision

A spokesman said that the board would reveal within one or two days after its meeting whether it was decided that dairy products should be placed back under control.

In deciding on August 20 to let dairy products remain free of controls, the board warned that it would watch the items and would order recontrol in the event of any "unreasonable" price rise.

The board said Thursday night that butter prices have jumped nearly seven and a half cents a pound since that date and that cheddar cheese prices have gone up two and one-half cents a pound.

Whether these price rises will be considered "unreasonable" depends upon the board's views on explanations presented by the dairy industry. If the board finds that the price jumps are "unreasonable", it probably will order recontrol of dairy products.

sentiment that we look abroad through our own American eyes and not through the eyes of either the British or the American press.

Wallace's appearance at Madison Square Garden was primarily a political show sponsored by the CIO-PAC. He derided the candidacy for reelection of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and charged that Dewey and the Republican party favor an alliance with Britain. He said:

"We must not let the British balance of power manipulations determine whether and when the United States gets into war."

Derides "Get Tough" Idea

The section of Wallace's speech which aroused greatest interest in diplomatic circles, however, was his derision of the "get tough with Russia" policy of the state department.

This has generally been accepted as United States policy for several months.

Wallace was regarded as having spoken extremely in commenting that the United States has no interest in the affairs of eastern Europe. State department foreign policy has been based on the theory that democratic processes of free elections should prevail in the Balkans and assurances to this effect had been given by the Russians last December at the "Big Three" meeting of foreign ministers.

Biting Attack On Veto Power In U N Council

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The security council of the United Nations today was branded incapable of guaranteeing the integrity and security of a Free Territory of Trieste under provisions of the Big Four draft treaty with Italy.

Col. W. R. Hodgson, of Australia, launched a biting attack on the inefficiency of the security council to cope with the problem under present conditions which permit a veto.

Hodgson declared:

"The veto power being applied in the security council in an arbitrary, irresponsible and dictatorial way, has brought the security council into disrepute in the eyes of the world."

Can Operate at Any Point
"The veto can operate at any point and turn."

"If there is any way to make the statute for Trieste unworkable it is to send it to the security council. It is useless sending reports to a body that is without jurisdiction."

Both Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky were present at the session and showed enough interest to demand a running translation of Hodgson's remarks.

The Australian spoke immediately after Czechoslovakia joined Yugoslavia's fight to gain control of the Trieste region by proposing a free territory. The proposal also included a provision for an economic union of the free territory with Yugoslavia.

A British spokesman, Stonedale Bennett, reopened the battle between the East and West in attacking a Soviet draft of the Trieste statute as catering to ideological rather than realistic facts.

made it plain that his unionists want the same pay treatment accorded the AFL which negotiated contracts calling for wage increases $5 and $10 a month higher than those granted CIO last June.

One top administration official said, however, that there was "no justification" for the CIO walkout. He added:

"There are no grounds on earth to justify that strike before they've even had a meeting with the operators."

Steelman's order will permit extension of the AFL pay adjustment to the CIO Maritime workers if the ship owners agree to it.

Acts With Speed
The reconversion director acted with almost unprecedented speed in dealing with the costly AFL strike when it reached him. Administration officials said his decision does not breach the stabilization policy nor will it have repercussions throughout industry generally.

Government experts foresee few, if any other cases where the Steelman order would have any effect. They viewed the action as settling the administration "over the hump" in the present crisis while permitting further time for any major wage policy change.

Administration officials said that a new wage policy eventually will be necessary, but that it cannot be determined until OPA completes the countless price adjustments required by the new price control law.

The present wage policy allows an employer to make any size wage boost without wage stabilization board approval if he does not use it to seek higher prices or increase costs to the government. The latter point was the key to the AFL ship strike.

Absorb Increases
The WSB had approved a $17.50 monthly increase for price relief purposes or added costs to the government, but it approved an extra $5 on the West Coast and $10 on the Atlantic.

Steamship explained that the ship owners stated "they were willing to absorb the increases above those already approved" as far as privately-operated vessels were concerned. However, they could not make the extra payments on government-owned ships and bill the government for the added operating costs without WSB approval.

The reconversion director solved the stalemate by amending the stabilization policy to permit a government agency to pay the "prevaling rates" in an industry on government jobs without recourse to the WSB.

Council of Ex-Envoys

There are probably few more distinguished groups of men in the United States today than the one made up of the men who have served this country, at one time or another, as ambassadors abroad.

The list of more than 40 charter members includes such familiar names as John W. Davis, Charles G. Dawes, Josephus Daniels, Henry Fletcher and James W. Gerard. Of more recent vintage are Sumner Welles, Joseph C. Grew, Hugh Gibson, Joseph E. Davies and William C. Bullitt.

After their terms of diplomatic service these men have each gone their separate ways. But now they have decided to pool their experience, their knowledge and their wisdom in a new council of ex-ambassadors. The aims of the council, according to Mr. Gerard, will be to strengthen American foreign policy and to suggest reforms within the State department.

It seems obvious that such an organization could perform a highly useful function. Its suggestion would almost certainly be kept on a strictly non-partisan basis in view of its mixed Republican and Democratic membership.

But it would be able to speak with considerable authority, whenever its members were able to agree on the course that the United States ought to follow in foreign affairs. As alumni of a tough school of experience they should be able to give their fellow countrymen useful advice and guidance at a time when a strong and consistent and thoroughly American foreign policy is one of the nation's greatest needs.

International Ironies

We hear mention often concerning life's little ironies. But it becomes evident now that there are big international ironies, too. Let us consider the cases of China and Yugoslavia as a example.

We fought the war in part for Chinese freedom and unity. We believed, and rightfully, that this unity was endangered by Japan. Japan is now crushed, but China has neither freedom, peace nor unity.

While the war against the Mikado was going on, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill made secret agreements with Josef Stalin giving him great concessions and much appeasement both in Europe and Asia to get his support in fighting Japan. It turned out that we didn't need it, and probably wouldn't have received much Russian help had we required it.

Stalin didn't put Russia in the war against Japan until after the first atom bomb fell and it was apparent that Japan was crushed. He only went into the fight in the closing hours to get what spoils he could, much of which apparently had been promised him.

But he got a big toehold in China and the result has been the Chinese Communist rebellion, which, if not stopped, spells Russian domination of China. Here is irony number one.

In Yugoslavia President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill turned thumbs down on the Serbian patriots and gave the green light to Red Marshal Tito. Yugoslavia was given war munitions, including hundreds of planes. With the war over, Tito began to insult us but even then he was given 315 millions in UNRRA aid, most of which came from Uncle Sam. Tito's gratitude was shown in the shooting down of unarmed American planes on the thinnest of excuses, despite all we had done for him. Here is international irony number two.

If we had time we could mention more. There is irony in the fate of the Baltic states, in Poland, Rumania and Hungary—especially if you will take time to read the principles enunciated in the Four Freedoms.

No Third Test

By President Truman's order the third naval test of the atom bomb, scheduled to take place at Bikini in the spring, has been postponed indefinitely. The lay public is in no position to pass on the wisdom of this decision. It will be enough for most people that action has been taken on the recommendation of the joint chiefs of staff, the secretaries of war and navy, and the President's commission to evaluate the atomic tests.

The chief reason for the postponement, according to the White House, is that military men feel that they do not need any more data than they obtained from the first five atomic explosions to evaluate the effectiveness of the bomb. There is certainly no further need to demonstrate that it is a weapon of terrible potentialities whether exploded on land or at sea.

At the same time there is speculation whether other factors may not have entered into this decision. There has been a strong feeling, in some circles, that these repeated tests are not helpful in an international situation which is tense at best. There have also been repeated rumors that newer and more powerful types of atomic bombs have been developed.

If this were true, military men would be understandingly reluctant to reveal them in a public demonstration and there also would be no particular point in continuing to test bombs already obsolete. But the explanation offered may tell the whole story and it is a plausible one, at all events. The tests already staged have revealed that it will be necessary to revise radically all conceptions of warfare and rebuild the nation's land and sea defenses.

It should not be necessary to engage in another test to drive this lesson home.

Noise In The Skies

Many communities are discovering today that the airports which are springing up all over the countryside are not an unalloyed asset to quiet suburban life. The airplane, to be blunt about it, is a noisy contraption.

A stream of them passing low overhead, day and night, may be a fascination and delight to a small boy but they can make life hideous to a brittle-nerved adult.

This is not news to the harried Civil Aeronautics Administration which is being bombarded with thousands of letters monthly from people with homes near airports. They protest, almost with one voice, that low-flying aircraft are making life an unbearable bedlam.

Few persons share the fear of CAA Administrator T. P. Wright that this rising tide of public complaint threatens to undermine aviation progress. The advantages of air transport are so great and the possession of an airport is such a tremendous asset to a community that there is no real danger that the protests will block the growth of aviation.

But it is evident that aviation will soon have to tackle the problem of noise elimination. It is not an easy problem to solve. The use of mufflers will add weight, cut power and increase costs of operation. Planes, moreover, need their full power most when they are rising from the ground.

But the noise nuisance is a very real and growing one and the people who are protesting to the CAA have an entirely legitimate complaint.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD SLEEP HABITS BEGIN EARLY

The average child does not get nearly enough sleep. Just how much he gets at any age is pretty largely determined by his parents. They are responsible for getting him in a horizontal position at proper intervals. Almost no child would, at the age of two, eight or fourteen choose, on his own accord, sufficient hours of sleep.

Perhaps the teen-ager would choose enough if he always were allowed to sleep as late as he wished. But his school and work program as well as the program of his family, requires that he shall rise in the morning, at a reasonable, regular hour. Some high school youths make up considerable sleep on Saturday and Sunday morning. In doing so, however, they may inconvenience their family and reduce their attendance at religious services.

Go To Bed Early

About the only way for the youth and other children of school age to be sure to get ample sleep is to go to bed early enough. Now, this, especially for the child under 12 or 14, is a matter of regulation by parents. But with parental control, the nation over, at so low ebb, the amount of sleep by these youngsters is correspondingly low.

Many a mother who is a wonder at cultivating good sleep habits in the baby or tot does not succeed to a similar degree with this same child several years later. The parent must have effective control of the child 6, 9, 12. This child must learn to do as told, if he is going to have a regular bedtime hour which will guarantee him sufficient sleep. And if his parents can't control him then, how are they going to keep him home on enough nights and get him home early enough to get adequate sleep, when he is sixteen?

If, on the other hand, the youngster is properly guided and controlled in earlier years in a family atmosphere of love and understanding, he has favorable training for causing him to choose reasonable bedtime hours at 16 or 17.

Sleep Least, Need Most

Often, parents say, "My child does not seem to need as much sleep as other children." They usually refer to a child from one to six. They are deep enough because he is too "nervous" and excitable, or because he lacks proper guidance. And the less sleep he gets the more nervous he becomes and the less sleep he chooses to have. Adequate sleep by children, especially under 12 or 14, requires adequate discipline by parents who are highly self-disciplined.

Not is it easy to launch such discipline suddenly at twelve, eight or even at six.

It must be cultivated all along from early childhood and there must not be too much relaxation. Show me a child who is poorly disciplined and I will show you a child who does not get sleep enough. I don't suppose you will have much trouble to find such a child, alas. How to guarantee sufficient sleep in the growing child, I have discussed at length in my bulletin, "Sleep Problems: Their Prevention and Correction." This bulletin and my chart showing desirable hours of sleep at the various ages may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

HENRY FORD AND YOUTH

Said Henry Ford, these boys today will get along as well as we. They'll find, no doubt, the better way.

Our eyes have grown too dim to see.

They'll prove, whenever crises rise, To be as steadfast and as wise.

Though boys are always fond of fun,

Don't worry! When they grow to men They'll get the graver problems done.

When they have stepped from now to then,

As much of greatness will come out As ever we could boast about.

Lose faith in youth? Ah, never that!

Each age has bettered all before. The boy beneath that tattered hat. Scarce noticed, in a few years more.

May take his place upon life's stage As great as any of our age.

Out of their ranks, for every post Where strength and courage are required,

And love of right is needed most, Will come the men with ardor fired.

However hard their tasks may be They'll do them, just as well as we.

Comparisons may be odious but so is this situation.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Here is my written guarantee that you will not hear me on the radio.

I was auditioned a few days ago by the agent for a soap company who thought that a few minutes of "Looking at Life" over the air waves every morning at 7:30 would be a good way to start the day and would induce untold millions to wash their breakfast dishes with the sponsor's particular brand of soap.

So an audition was arranged. I was asked to write a special script, and then the agent underlined all the words on which I was supposed to lay particular emphasis.

I was taken into a glass cage and explained the signals by which I was to start and to stop, to speed up or slow down, to increase or decrease the emphasis.

It was very hot and stuffy in the cage—and I had never been in a cage before—so naturally I was very nervous.

The signals started. A violent up and down wave of an arm outside the cage, and I began to read. Outside stood the agent with a stopwatch in his hand, and there were three or four assistants with all kinds of gadgets.

I read and could not believe that I had written the stuff, although it had looked so well on paper.

I recited a second script, and the audition was over.

"Well let you know in a couple of days," said the agent, and he didn't sound very cordial.

By the end of the week I received a package and a letter.

In the package was a phonograph record.

The letter read: "Dear Mr. Brandeis:—

"The audition was not very satisfactory, as you will be able to tell yourself after listening to the record which we are sending under separate enclosure.

Your voice is at present not at all suited for radio, but if you are willing to take a course of lessons in diction and elocution, we may want to try you out again in about six months."

Well, I played the record, and I am certainly glad that you won't have to listen to me on the radio.

I had been told by several people that I have a nice voice.

The record sounded as if I were spewing horseshit through a grate.

My stuff, which many editors and readers tell me is quite readable, was about the silliest lot of hogwash I ever heard in my life.

No, I am not going to take any lessons in diction and elocution.

I have always wondered what is wrong with radio.

Now I know. Diction and elocution are much more important than common sense.

Hereafter my motto will be: "Writers shall be read, not heard."

And if you hear a commentator telling you in dulcet tones how to solve the evils of the world, remember: His diction and elocution are perfect.

What if his talk doesn't make sense?

He isn't selling sense, you know. He's selling soap.

Have you registered... will you be eligible to vote in the coming election? Friends it is important that you be on the roll... and after you are on the roll it is very important that you take time to vote. It won't take too long... in fact for most people it will mean but a fifteen minute chore... and we really shouldn't consider it a chore... it is a privilege. Some folks probably won't know it is a privilege until the privilege is no longer available... which we hope that no one will ever live to see that day.

Strikes Put Nation In Perilous Plight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. CONCEDED that the employers are anything but faultless and that often there is justice in the demands of union labor, nevertheless it seems impossible for any thinking citizen, whether he is of the one class or the other (or among the millions who belong to neither) to contemplate the record of the past year without agreeing that the industrial-labor situation in the country is so bad that it cannot indefinitely continue without peril to us all.

PARTICULARLY is this true when one considers the present shipping and truck strikes which not only have dealt the nation a shocking economic blow and blocked the transportation of relief to the starving abroad but actually have seriously threatened the food supply of our greatest city and caused distress in a number of others. Regardless of the merits of these strikes, regardless of who is responsible or what caused them, they do take the nation by the throat, menace the existence of the people as a whole and ought not to be allowed to happen.

PRACTICALLY no one other than the professional labor executives and their tools, plus the Communist leaders who consistently strive for economic chaos, will dissent from that view. The overwhelming mass of American citizens firmly believe that no group or class should have the power to endanger the lives, health and happiness of the people as a whole. No one will dispute that. And yet, the people have permitted, almost without protest, a group to acquire and to use exactly that power.

IT IS almost incredible that they have not seen the dangers of the partnership in the Democratic party and in the government into which the late Mr. Roosevelt, for purely personal political reasons, admitted the labor bosses and which inevitably has led to their domination of both. It is almost incredible that the inherent evils of this partnership were not plain and that the excesses to which it was sure to lead were not foreseen. As things stand today the Administration is still deeply involved politically and in legislative advances of the unions are so great that the whole situation has become absurdly lopsided.

THE government of the United States is futile in a national crisis and both political parties are afflicted with fear of the irresponsible labor bullies. These opposite every proposal, however, clearly in the public interests to amend the existing laws. Until we get an administration without servility toward, and without fear of these labor bosses, now grown unprecedentedly arrogant and ruthless, nothing can be done. We will continue without a decent national labor policy and our economy will continue to deteriorate.

OUR prestige abroad and the strength of our foreign policies will diminish in proportion to our domestic difficulties. We will be humiliated at home by the helplessness of our government and mutilated abroad by the spectacle we present of how badly our democracy works. We will be weakened all down the line—in real danger of losing our liberties. This is not an exaggerated statement. It is a simple presentation of the facts.

THE SOLUTION—if there is a solution—is that one of the organs of our major parties—or both—awakening to the degradation and peril of this union labor political domination, shall, as a matter of equality and justice, declare in favor of the revision of the Iniquitous Wagner Act in a form to take away the power of any group to strangle the nation and restrict the necessities of the people. This is a desperate world, but better if there seemed in either party a leader of men capable of measuring up to the situation. Perhaps, one will arise but at the moment there does not seem to be one in sight who has any real chance to be nominated for the presidency.

"Squatters" Provide Atlee's Government With Crisis

By J. C. OESTRICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

The astonishing spectacle of English men and women, traditionally the most orderly and law-abiding in the world, taking matters into their own hands to find a place to live provided Britain with one of its most exciting incidents since the war.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee's cabinet met and approved extreme measures to prevent any further seizure of empty houses and apartment buildings by homeless persons operating under direct orders from the Communist party. But "squatters" remained in possession of the fashionable Duchess of Bedford apartment house in West Kensington as well as Mowat Lodge, once the town house of Lord Rochester of the peerage. They also took over the old Ivanhoe Hotel in Bloomsbury near the British Museum and appeared determined to stay unless bombed out again.

Severe Crisis For Atlee

The situation posed the most severe crisis yet faced by the Attlee government. But from the viewpoint of the cabinet, the circumstances were to some extent fortuitous for there seemed little chance that a parliamentary upset could occur.

Britain's first Labor government since the days of the late J. Ramsay MacDonald has encountered a rising tide of opposition from the home front because of alleged bungling in reconstruction and rationing. Principal opposition, of course, has come from the Conservative party.

But what may become known in military parlance as "operation squat" fails to provide the ammunition it needs for an overthrow.

In the first place, the movement admittedly was organized and is being directed by the Communist party, for which reason alone the Conservatives could hardly support it.

Secondly, forcible possession is by its very nature anarchistic violation of private property rights—and private property rights are the keystone and bulwark of Conservative theories in England.

The problems of housing and rationing are so acute in England that international affairs long ago were relegated to second place in the thoughts of the average citizen.

Attlee and his government believe they are doing the proper thing by attempting to provide for housing and reconstruction on a "long range" basis, giving priority to

While dismissal of these employees will aid the drive for economy in the Federal Government, it will not suffice in itself to cut expenditures to the point where they are within receipts. One trouble about keeping the number of employees in the Federal establishment within reasonable bounds lies with the Civil Service Commission, which rates many workers solely on the basis of how many underlings they command. This tends to build up a needlessly large force.

The existing shortage of manpower in many lines of private industry ameliorates the hardship that the dismissals might cause at another time.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The World and the Mud Puddles

FATERNAL LEGISLATION

As an example of crack-pot legislation there is the so-called Railroad Retirement Act passed during the closing days of Congress. It provides for a tax of six per cent on the employee's wages and nine percent on the railroad employer—a total tax of fifteen per cent.

This act was passed in all probability by congressmen in their desire to appease the wrath of the Railway Brotherhoods—another vote getting act. Of course, it threw monkey wrenches into the railroad finances—with the financial set-up of those railroads who provide retirement pay for their employees who have served them faithfully during their lifetime—they will not attempt to comply with this act and maintain their own retirement fund any longer. It will be one more reason why the railroads will pass this on, if possible, to the traveler and the shipper—more transportation costs. Fifteen per cent more for the Brotherhoods also. With the amount contained in the pay envelopes of their members reduced by the provision of this act, they will want more pay for their members.

Of course, this act is along the line of Social Security Acts—not exactly an effort to enable the railroad employees to get something for nothing, but to make sure that the union member is amply secured in old age; in other words, if the railroad employee has not handled his income intelligently and secured for himself a life insurance that does provide for his old age, the government must step in and do it for him.

Just another example of too much government.

Hints On Etiquette

If a friend or neighbor has borrowed a piece of household equipment from you and forgotten to return it, ask for it. You can put the matter to her tactfully, saying that you know she simply forgot it, but that you need it.

The State Police Say:—

Do not presume too much on technical right-of-way. Always use good judgment—the other driver may not. Better be safe and alive than right and dead. Don't take even one unnecessary chance—it may be your last. GIVE SAFETY THE RIGHT-OF-WAY.

ANOTHER SYSTEM NEEDED

NEW ORGAN TO BE DEDICATED ON SUNDAY EVENING

Rev. Harold A. McCurdy Will Dedicate New Electric Organ At Croton Methodist Church

Sunday evening, September 15, will be a bright spot in the history of the Croton Methodist church. At 8 o'clock the new Hammond electric organ of the church will be dedicated by Rev. Harold A. McCurdy, superintendent of the Grove City district of the Methodist church.

The service of dedication will culminate six months of hard work by the members of the church in securing funds for the new addition to the worship services of the church. Rev. Owen Shields, pastor of the church, announced that almost $2200 has come in for the purchase of the organ. The goal of $2000 is to be reached shortly, making the organ debt free.

To be heard on the impressive program of Sunday evening will be Roland Crisci, a student at Westminster Choir college, Princeton, N. J., who will preside at the organ during the evening's program. Miss Irma Waggoner will be heard in an organ prelude of two numbers before Mr. Crisci takes over the console.

During the evening, Miss Marston Wheldon, soprano soloist, will be heard, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Van.

The service of dedication is as follows: Dr. Harold A. McCurdy presiding; organ prelude, Miss Irma Waggoner, "Evening Star" by Wagner and "Starry Night" by Hopkins; congregational hymn, "Angels Ever Singing"; dedication of organ, by Dr. McCurdy; offertory prayer, Rev. Shields; offertory, "Eventide" by Mallard; Doxology.

The program of organ music by Mr. Crisci will consist of the following: "He Who Will Suffer God To Guide Him" and "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach; Sketch in F Minor and Canon in B Minor by Shumann; "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte; "Teach Me To Pray" by Jewitt, both number sung by Miss Wheldon; "Communion," "Divine Mysterium" by Purvis; Humoresque Fantaisie, Garth Edmundson (organist at the First Presbyterian church); Pax Vobiscum by Edmundson and Cottage and Fanfare by Edmundson.

Benediction by Dr. H. A. McCurdy.

St. Vitus Sodality Enjoys Corn Roast

The annual corn and weiner roast of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Vitus church, was held on Wednesday evening, September 11, at Domini's residence with approximately thirty Sodality members present.

Miniature golf was the pastime of the evening with prizes going to Louise Corio and Nellie Capperino. Various games and community singing were also enjoyed.

Special guests for the evening were Rev. Fr. Francis Boyle, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, and Rev. Francis Ginocchi.

The social committee under the direction of Rita Natale, chairlady, was in charge of this Sodality affair.

Meat Situation In Philadelphia Is Worst In History

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The meat situation in Philadelphia was described today as the worst in the city's history—and officials predicted there will be practically no fresh meat at all available over the week-end.

Added to this was the announcement from John Morrell and company—one of the city's major suppliers—that it will close its packing houses for at least a week, starting Monday, because of the shortage.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia meat industry said three hundred slaughtering houses in the city were shut down—and there were indications that others will soon do likewise.

There's a shorter supply of Golden Bantam corn in the county today than there was yesterday. The Lawrence county chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association held its annual corn roast at "Jellico," the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pearsall on the Neshannock creek Thursday night and the country air seemed to whet appetites.

During the evening Mrs. Pearsall was presented with a gift from the truckers as a token of esteem. There was no formal program, the entire evening being informal.

DUNCAN-BINTRIM ALL WHITE WEDDING

Miss Doris Louise Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duncan of Castlewood, became the bride of George R. Bintrim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bintrim of the Butler road, an impressive all-white wedding ceremony Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Harmony Baptist church.

Rev. Earl E. Collins officiated at the double ring ceremony. Palms and ferns were banked at the altar, flanked on either side by seven-branched candelabra.

The bride wore a gown of white net over satin, with a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and peplum at the waist. Her fingertip veil of net fell from a Juliet cap of satin, trimmed with lace. She carried white roses.

Miss Thelma Weiss, maid of honor, wore a gown with fitted bodice and full skirt of white net over tulle. Her headpiece was a cluster of pink roses and she carried pink roses. Miss Margaret Weingartner, bridesmaid, was gowned similarly and also carried pink roses.

Ernest Bintrim served his brother as best man. Ushers were James and Herbert Bintrim, both brothers of the groom, and Elmer Duncan of Youngstown, O., brother of the bride.

Miss Loretta Garver played a prelude of nuptial music and Miss DeLores Bruno sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for 125 guests. The pink and white tones set by the bride's gown and her attendants' costumes were echoed in pink and white decorations at the reception. A four-tiered wedding cake was a feature.

The bride and groom left later in the evening for a wedding trip to New York City. On their return they will make their home for the present with her parents.

Mrs. Bintrim, a graduate of Shengango high school, is employed by the Bell Telephone company. Mr. Bintrim served 3½ years in the Navy, including two years overseas. He is employed at the United Engineering and Foundry company.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Duncan of Youngstown, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Birch, Miss Norman Birch and Glen Birch of Cleveland, O.

Name Allegheny, Philadelphia As Unstable Counties

Counties Most Unpredictable When Attempting Political Forecasts

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 13. — Politically, Allegheny and Philadelphia are the most unstable counties in Pennsylvania, according to Dr. H. F. Alderfer, executive secretary of the Institute of Local Government at the Pennsylvania State College.

Wayne and Susquehanna, on the other hand, are listed as the most stable—1931 both the Democratic and Republican standpoint—in Dr. Alderfer's new study titled "Gubernatorial Elections in Pennsylvania, 1922-42."

"In looking ahead to future elections," Dr. Alderfer explains, "it's always well to know not only how a particular county went in previous elections, but also how much it held or deviated from the general average."

More Stable Vote

The Republican vote in the state as a whole during this period has been slightly more stable than the Democratic vote, both in average deviation and in the size of the greatest deviation, the survey points out. In the 13 elections studied, the average Republican percentage of total state vote was 55, with an average deviation of 8 per cent. The Democratic average, on the other hand, was 40, with an average deviation of 10 per cent.

The 1922-1930 period is the one in which the greatest county deviations are found. This period can be classed as one of instability in contrast to the period from 1932 to 1944, which, whether Republican governors or Democratic presidents were elected, was one that showed a surprising consistency on the part of both parties.

Boy In Shooting Case Is Located At Coudersport

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Robert Probst, 13-year-old ward of the juvenile court, was found in Coudersport Thursday where he had fled after shooting Mrs. Earl Summers on Tuesday.

State police at Lock Haven announced that Coudersport authorities had apprehended the youth after he roiled more than 30 miles across a mountain road from his home in Leidy township, Clinton county.

Mrs. Summers was shot six times in the abdomen with a .22 caliber rifle. Her condition was pronounced fair at a Renovo hospital.

Police found no motive for the shooting.

The boy, who had started attending Renovo high school, shot Mrs. Summers when she found him at home on a school day. The woman fled her home in a fusillade of bullets and waded over a creek to escape the youth.

Four Alleged Counterfeiters Under Arrest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The Secret Service on Thursday announced the arrest of four alleged counterfeiters and the recovery of $110,000 in spurious money.

The announcement said this was the "largest haul of bogus money taken in the past 10 years."

Acting S. S. Chief James J. Maloney said the fake money was in $20 Federal Reserve notes.

The Secret Service described the men under arrest as Joseph Soroka and Joseph Giarusso, apprehended in New York; Joseph Paternoster, alleged owner of a Newark, N. J., printing plant; and George A. Larkin, also of Newark.

First Historical Marker Erected

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Attorney General James H. Duff, chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum commission and other members of the commission watched recently as workmen erected the first permanent historical marker to be placed along the state's highways.

The marker, placed at the point where the Dauphin-Lebanon county boundary crosses U. S. Route 22, commemorates the adoption of the "Hanover Resolves," a group of resolutions adopted in 1774 favoring independence from Great Britain. It was the first of more than 1,000 markers which will be erected throughout the state at or near the sites of frontier forts, military campaigns, historic highways, canals, and buildings.

With Duff at the erection of the first marker were Charles G. Webb, Wellsboro, and Thomas Murphy of Scranton, commission members and members of the commission staff. The actual work was performed by a state highways department crew.

The 42 by 30-inch plaque was mounted on a concrete post four feet high and has gold lettering on a blue background.

Would Take Mystery From Business World

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—(INS)—C. R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill Co., of Middletown, O., today urged that "mystery" be taken out of business as a step toward amicable labor-management relations.

Hook addressed the annual convention of the National Association of Foremen in St. Louis. He said possible effort put forth so that "Plans must be adopted and every fundamental economics of business and particularly of the wage question can be simply and clearly explained."

Hook asserted that the majority of people do not understand business terms such as "reserves, depreciation, amortization," which "to many people represent concealed profits."

Maine Result Causes Study

Surprise Is Seen In Vote In State Against Soldiers'
Bonus

NEWS NOTES OF STATE CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Maine voters' repudiation of a soldier bonus proposal at their recent general election has caused some Pennsylvania political leaders to speculate whether party chieftains were hasty in advocating commonwealth payments to World War II service men and women. A few leaders have questioned whether it would not have been best for chieftains of both political parties to have sat back and waited until sentiment among veterans organizations for a bonus crystallized. Both the Republican and Democratic platforms contain bonus planks.

Despite the Republican sweep of the U. S. senatorship, the governorship and three congressional seats in Maine, many Pennsylvania political leaders were uncertain whether the election was an accurate gauge of G. O. P. strength in the fall election. Although the outcome of the Maine election was not unexpected, some leaders feel that the Republican margins were insufficient to prove the old axiom: "As Maine goes, so goes the nation."

Nelson W. McCloskey of York, chairman of the Democratic veterans' committee, has reported that 16 of the party's 33 congressional candidates served in the armed forces—either during World War I or II. McCloskey said the veteran candidates included incumbent Congressman William T. Granahan and William J. Green, Jr., both of Philadelphia; Francis E. Walter of Easton; and Herman E. Eberharter of Pittsburgh.

U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey's announcement that he had asked President Truman to appoint Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of Pennsylvania's former governor, to a U. S. commission did not surprise many veteran politicians at the state capital. Some leaders have interpreted Guffey's announcement as a move to persuade Pinchot to organize a group of independent Republicans to support the Democratic state-wide candidates. Both Mrs. Pinchot and the former governor supported the late President Roosevelt during his fourth-term campaign two years ago.

Many leaders at the state house have expressed the belief that if Gov. Edward Martin defeats Guffey in the U. S. senatorial race this fall the Pittsburgh Democrat's long career as a leader of his party in Pennsylvania will be ended. Most leaders believe that Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Democratic national committeeman, would be the undisputed head of his party following a Guffey defeat.

Signs that both the Republican and Democratic high commands planned to expend every effort to capture counties which normally vote for the other party have appeared at the state capital. The Republicans were reported concentrating their strength in Allegheny county, a Democratic stronghold, while the Democrats were spurring registrations in the rural areas which usually fall in the G. O. P. column. The CIO Political Action Committee has been reported "carrying the ball" for the Democrats in rural sections.

Woman Claims Anyone Can Be Good Sculptor

DETROIT—(INS)—It's the claim of sculptress Gwen Lux that anyone can take up sculpturing and be a success.

No artistic talent is needed, Miss Lux declares, and points to the fact that sculpturing is prescribed for convalescents, including war veterans who have hours on their hands while recuperating in hospital beds or wheel chairs.

"Most individuals," she states, "instinctively have a sense of proportion which can be imparted more easily by the beginner working in clay, than by the novice working in any other art."

Miss Lux gives the following simple rules for successful sculpturing:

1. Keep the dampened clay in a closed container.
2. Start with a simple object, such as an ash tray.

3. First knead the clay so that minute air pockets are removed and excess water is squeezed out.

4. If more complex objects are worked on, such as animal or human figures, separate the clay into sections, one for the body, arms, legs and a head.

5. Press the sections together carefully when assembling so they won't fall off easily.

6. After the rough figure is assembled, it is bent into position and supports of clay are used to steady it.

7. Details such as eyes, nose, fingers, may be added now.

8. Let your model dry.

When the model is dry it is taken to a pottery to be fired in a kiln.

And mistakes? That's easy, says the sculptress. Merely wet the section where the correction is to be made—before the figure dries.

GEN. MARK CLARK ILL.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Gen. Mark W. Clark, American commander in Austria, was under a physician's care in the Washington home of his mother, Mrs. Mark W. Clark Sr.

The general, who arrived in Washington on leave late Wednesday, is suffering from a heavy cold. Mrs. Clark said her son contracted the cold on the trans-Atlantic flight and that his physician had ordered "absolute rest" for several days.

Secretary Byrnes May Go To Vienna

Report Byrnes Toying With Idea Of Making Speech There On U. S. Policy

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 13.—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes is "toying with the idea" of visiting Vienna to make a forthright speech on American policy towards Austria, similar to the speech he made at Stuttgart last week.

It is known that Gen. Mark W. Clark urged Byrnes to visit Vienna for this purpose shortly before the general left for the United States. He asked, however, that the secretary of state wait until he returns to his post.

Byrnes' advisers say the diplomat wishes to make the trip but that the date will depend on what happens at the Paris peace conference. It was recalled that Byrnes two months ago circulated a draft of the peace treaty with Austria and it is known that he hopes to get it on the council of foreign ministers' agenda as soon as possible, despite Soviet coolness to the idea.

His visit to Vienna should reveal an even sharper divergence between American and Russian policy than did his trip to Germany.

Butler Plans For Big Bond Issue

BUTLER, Sept. 13.—City Council decided today to submit a $400,000 bond issue for civic improvements to a vote of the people at the November election.

Three projects are to be voted separately, councilmen agreed at a special meeting.

They are: cost of constructing and maintaining a municipal swimming pool, $150,000; construction of an incinerator, $100,000; street and sewer improvements, $150,000. Council was endeavoring to act swiftly in order to complete details and fulfill legal requirements in time to put the propositions on the November 5 ballot.

Colorful Figure

Always a colorful figure because of his enormous wealth and prominence in European affairs, Wenner-Gren came into world prominence immediately after the outbreak of war when his luxurious yacht, the "Southern Cross," rescued many survivors of the liner Athenia.

This ship had been torpedoed by the Germans on the day Great Britain and France declared war, forty-eight hours after Adolf Hitler's invasion of Poland.

Wenner-Gren was accused of collaboration and for this reason was placed upon the blacklist. He was known to have had correspondence with the late British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and with Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering.

The Swedish manufacturer always said he suspected the possibility of a new European war as early as 1934 and for this reason communicated with leading European and Japanese statesmen.

State Department Removes Name Of Swedish Industrialist From List Of Suspected Agents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Many years of exile came to an end today for Axel Wenner-Gren, multi-millionaire Swedish industrialist.

International News Service learned that the state department has removed Wenner-Gren's name from the blacklist of suspected Nazi agents.

He has been granted permission to enter the United States from Mexico and will return to Stockholm to resume leadership of his vast enterprises. These include the Bofors Gun Manufacturing Company, the Swedish branch of the SKF Ballbearing industry and many other concerns represented throughout the world.

The application was cleared through all government departments, including the FBI.

Virginia Bruce's Husband Gets Army Discharge

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—(INS)—

Discharged U. S. Army Private All Ipar landed at Lockheed Air Terminal Thursday and headed for a continuation of the honeymoon with actress Virginia Bruce that his commanding officer cut short two weeks ago with orders to return to his post. Ipar's blonde bride was not at the airport to greet him but this didn't seem to bother Ipar, a man of mystery in cinema circles.

Ipar explained: "I didn't tell her I was coming. I wanted to surprise her."

Then he entered a car and was off to meet his thrice married bride and the family of two children he acquired with the marriage.

Gets Army Discharge

It was the children, who were deemed his responsibility, that won Ipar his Army discharge although there were some, including Ipar himself, who wondered what he—a Turkish national—was doing in the Army in the first place.

The 25-year-old Ipar was given a rough introduction to matrimony. On the eve of his marriage to Miss Bruce, 36, Army authorities bundled him off to the Fort MacArthur guardhouse on charges of obtaining three consecutive three-day passes by fraud.

Then, as the wedding march was about to start, a Beverly Hills traffic policeman threatened to arrest the harried Turk for allegedly having driven his auto through a red light.

Ipar beat the charge by posting $25 bond and the wedding proceeded.

In Hollywood, Ipar is variously identified as a Turkish motion picture producer, a student of the cinema, a prospective Hollywood producer and a wealthy Turk on a vacation.

Kiwanis Corn Roast Is Usual Attractive Event

Members And Family Spend Enjoyable Evening At Y.M.C.A. Camp Wednesday

Members of the New Castle Kiwanis club had their usual enjoyable gathering on Wednesday evening, when the annual corn roast for the club members and their families took place at the Y.M.C.A. camp.

H. L. Marvin was general chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, and after a delicious repast, which included corn and wieners, with all the trimmings, plus ice cream, watermelon, etc., the guests settled back to a program of entertainment. The feature of the evening was a hill billy band which provided a fine program of rollicking melodies, and the members gathered around a huge bonfire to top off the evening, and enjoyed informal pleasures.

TAKE EXTRA CARE IN CANNING TOMATOES NOW

Because of blight and poor ripening, the tomato crop is not so good as expected. Extra precautions must be taken, therefore, in canning tomatoes if spoilage is to be avoided. Be sure to follow a recommended timetable for processing, suggests Miss McClain.

To can tomatoes, first wash thoroughly, then scald, cold dip, and peel. Make sure that any white or black spots are entirely cut out. Pack tomatoes into clean jars, either whole or cut into pieces, pressing to get enough juice to fill the jar. Seal jar according to the type of lid being used and process 30 minutes for pints or 35 minutes for quarts, in the boiling water bath.

It might be wise to precook this year's tomatoes until tender, then pack hot into sterilized jars to 1/4-inch from the top, seal and process 5 minutes in the boiling water bath. Do not cut the processing time any because blight has made the fruit more susceptible to spoilage.

Indians Attempt To 'Rope Train'

OMAHA, Neb. — (INS) — How a hundred Cheyenne Indians tried to stop an early-day train with a rawhide rope is related in a brief history of the Union Pacific Railroad recently published.

The incident occurred on what is now the railroad's Kansas division and is described as follows: "Steaming westward near Fort Wallace, the engineer discovered that the telegraph wires had been cut—usually a sign that there were Indians ahead, waiting to ambush the train.

"As the train neared their hiding place, they rose up one hundred strong—fifty on each side of the track—and pulled taut a rawhide rope they had stretched across the track between them to stop the train.

"When the locomotive hit the rope the air was full of Indians and they were thrown in all directions. More than a dozen were killed or seriously injured and it was several years before they attempted to stop a train again in that part of the country."

STARTED ERIE LIBRARY
ERIE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—H. C. Missimer, superintendent of Erie schools in 1894, is credited with starting the first public library in the lake city.

Missimer interested a number of other civic leaders in the enterprise and in 1895 the group drafted a proposal suggesting the commonwealth establish free libraries in the state. The legislature enacted such a measure the same year.

Private Planes May Total 17,000 In State By 1955

Jump In Private Ownership Of Planes To Demand More
Than 200 Airports

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Pennsylvania will have an estimated 17,000 private planes by 1955 and will need more than 200 airports.

So says Dr. R. Hadley Waters, associate professor of economics at the Pennsylvania State college, who has just concluded a study of airport needs and published it under the title of "Pennsylvania's Airport Needs: Statistical Analysis by Counties and Cities."

In his study, Dr. Waters compared the rate of growth of the air industry in the state to that of the auto industry and concluded that the increase of aircraft from 1928 to 1941, the last prewar year, was 785 per cent—which corresponds rather closely to the 755 per cent increase in automobiles reported for the period from 1909 to 1915.

Dr. Waters further estimates that Pennsylvania's share of all U. S. planes will be about 7 per cent, indicating a national total of 240,000 private planes in 1955. The Pennsylvania figure is based on this state's share of national totals of payrolls, wage-earners in manufacturing, value of manufactured products, population, passenger automobile registrations, licensed aircraft, airports in use, and land areas.

The state total is broken down by counties and the number of potential users and owners of aircraft in each county is one of the main figures used to estimate airport requirements for that county.

Phoenix, capital of Arizona, is the Southwest's principal distribution center.

Selecting Of Stocks Is Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1946, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)
BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 13.—We hear much about stock market "averages"—especially the Dow-Jones Industrial Average which is pretty much the standard.

This average was 381 early in 1929; it fell to 41 in 1932; since then it has gradually crawled back (with a break in 1937) to 212 a high in May, 1946. Since then there has been a decline, so that the average today is about 181.

In addition to watching these averages, many investors are believers in the "Dow Theory" so-called. This is that a change in the cyclical trend of the market is indicated when there is confirmation in the individual price movements of the industrial group and the railroad group of stocks. Such a change of trend is said to have taken place when both groups break through an earlier fairly recent top or bottom of the group's averages.

My own opinion is that in the years ahead, between now and World War III, much less attention will be given to these or any other averages. They will mean much less in the future than in the past. As for the Dow Theory, I believe this has fulfilled its usefulness and we will hear much less about it from now on.

Selective Markets Ahead
Nothing in sight suggests there will be any less idle money to invest during the next few years even though more securities are being issued. Therefore, the buying demand should exceed the desire to sell; in fact, many of those who sell will ultimately reinvest in something else. People may change their investments from stocks to other forms of securities—or may put the money into houses, automobiles or other things. The money, however, will continue to exist in someone's pocket or bank account.

My own guess is that we are facing a very selective market. As the international situation becomes more intense, wise investors will sell securities of corporations which have most of their assets in large U. S. cities which will probably be destroyed if World War III occurs. They will seek out companies which have their assets well distributed throughout the country mostly away from large cities.

Watch Investment Counselors
Investment counselors and investment trusts are already busy seeking out such corporations and switching them funds accordingly. This probably explains why stocks like Greyhound, General American Tank Car, Corn Products, Diamond Match, St. Joe Lead, United Fruit and certain oils and sulphurs have gone up above the averages; while stocks like the railroads have lagged. Surely, the stocks of certain chain store companies with their merchandise distributed among hundreds of small communities throughout the central west or south should be safer investments than the stock of a large department store in some big coastal city.

As these investment counselors get underway in their studies, their clients will create a buying power which may well cause much higher prices in so-called "war-proof" stocks, and much lower prices in "war-vulnerable" stocks. How this will affect the averages, no one can tell. These investment counselors will also again give much consideration to the effects of inflation upon securities. If World War III comes, it cannot help being followed by wild and uncontrolled inflation.

Selecting Industries Using Little Labor
There also is one other consideration which is already making this selective market. I refer to labor demands. Wise investors are selecting stocks which employ a comparatively small amount of labor. Hence, the ideal investment is one which would fulfill these three requirements:

- (1) A company with most of its assets outside of large vulnerable cities.
- (2) A company which would not suffer from severe inflation.
- (3) A company which has a comparatively small labor cost.

To me, the merchandizing chains, operating in the middle west, best fulfill these three conditions and in such I, personally, have considerable money.

Gov. Martin Proclaims Pennsylvania Week

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Governor Martin, officially proclaiming September 17 through 22 as Pennsylvania Week, said it "affords a new opportunity to re-emphasize the rich heritage which Pennsylvanians are privileged to share."

Asserting in a proclamation that there "are almost endless variety and vast quantities of natural resources, and wide diversity and high productivity of industry," the governor urged community programs to help Pennsylvanians realize "the potentialities of their home state."

"From its very founding, our great state has recognized freedom of religion," he continued. "It has encouraged self-reliance, and has fostered freedom of opportunity and freedom of individual action. It was on Pennsylvania soil that free states met to form a union for free government, setting an example to all nations."

He said this is a heritage "we must know and cherish" and "it is the responsibility of every citizen to assist in preserving and transmitting it to posterity."

Warns Bobbysoxers About Their Health

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Bobbysoxers who occupy their leisure time sipping ice cream sodas were warned today to watch their diets lest they endanger their chances of healthy motherhood.

The warning was voiced by Dr. Ice Macy Hoobler, research director for the children's fund of Michigan, who came to Chicago to receive the Garvin medal for outstanding women in chemistry, at the American Chemical society convention.

Dr. Hoobler said that bobbysoxers who spend their afternoons "sipping sodas in the high school hangout are injuring themselves as well as the children they may bear," because of undernourishment.

Ward School Band Working Very Hard

One of the hardest working groups in the Mahoning public school is the school band, which can be found practicing in the school music room several times a week under the capable direction of Gladys Poland, director of music.

The band, which not only plays for all school functions, is ready to make its appearance at any of the civic affairs of the community.

Your seventh ward reporter was let in on a little secret during a visit to the schoolhouse. Principal Fred McClure revealed that if the boys and girls get the right kind of breaks, they will soon emerge in bright new uniforms. It is hoped that this ambition will be realized in the not too distant future.

Mistakes Snare 'Phoney Colonel' Of Army Air Force

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13. — (INS) — Robert F. Hilbish, of Harrisburg, 25-year-old former army lieutenant, is under arrest as a phoney air hero.

He braved with R. J. Reynolds, wealthy tobacco heir, at Atlantic City August 31 and several days later appeared as "Colonel Terry Lawson," wearing the proper, but unearned, insignia along with Royal Air Force wing.

The youth is being held at Harrisburg in default of $5,000 bail by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on a charge of impersonating an Army Air Forces colonel.

"I concocted the whole thing while stationed at an Army Air Forces base in England," he told U. S. Commissioner William S. Middleton when arraigned at Harrisburg. He would give no reason.

New Oil Gets Thinner In Cold, Thicker In Heat

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. — New motor oils that seem to violate the laws of nature by getting thinner as they grow colder, and that thicken when they get hot, were announced by the American Chemical society.

The oils were described by Doctors H. C. Evans and D. W. Young of Stanco Distributors, Inc., New York City. They are an offshoot of the miracles of synthetic rubbers and new plastics of the war.

The oils owe their peculiar performance in heat and cold to addition of some rubber-like materials, made synthetically. These rubbery particles are very large-size molecules. The rubbery stuff is made from either mineral oils or coal or a number of farm products.

Evans and Young declared that the oils made starting easier. They said oil consumption was low because of the thickening on heating affording a better oil seal around motor piston rings.

Big Philadelphia Shipyard To Close

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13. — (INS) — The Cramps shipyard, which employed some 18,000 persons during the war, are expected to shut down before the year is out.

This was learned today following a statement by Cramps President H. E. Russell. He said the company was not accepting any more contracts for ship repair and conversion work.

Russell gave as the reasons for closing depressed conditions in the industry and the necessity of speeding up completion of Cramps' remaining obligations in connection with naval shipbuilding contracts.

There are now about 1700 persons employed at the yards, but about 700 will be laid off soon, leaving about one thousand to do inventory work, Russell reported.

FRIDAY THE 13TH CLUB HAS NO FEAR OF SUPERSTITION

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13. — (INS) — Friday, the 13th, held no qualms today for Philadelphia's Friday the 13th club.

Following a custom of 15 years standing, the 13 members of the organization held their customary Friday the 13th meeting in the Quakers City.

The membership is made up of 13 Philadelphia business and professional men. Oh yes, the meeting began at 12:13 p. m.

There was an added feature to today's meeting, however. The Friday the 13th club made its own presentation of a war bond award.

John Walsh, 33, of Philadelphia, was awarded a bond for being the 13th Philadelphia GI to reach Tokyo. The club didn't say who counted Walsh as the 13th, though.

Presents Gold Medal To Wife

Chicago Man Makes News By Rewarding Her For Safe Driving Record

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. — A Chicago man has made news—if not history—by having a gold medal struck off at his own expense and presenting it to his wife for driving 300,000 miles without an accident or a traffic ticket.

When the National Safety Council recovered from the shock, it decided it wanted to be in on this too.

So it announced today it is forming a national club of safe women drivers, to be known as Wonder Wives. And it is naming as the No. 1 charter member of the club Mrs. James J. Ingels, the Chicago wonder wife whose driving so enthralled her husband.

In presenting the membership card to Mrs. Ingels, the council said: "You have disproved the opinion of many husbands profess to have of their wives' driving. That is splendid."

"More than that, you have even caused your own husband to admit you are a good and careful driver. That is miraculous!"

"We therefore welcome you into Wonder Wives. The only membership requirement is that you keep up the good work!"

Education Cost Up Half Billion Over That Of '45

Fewer Teachers Than Ever Anxious To Enter Class- rooms, Despite Im- provements

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The commerce department estimated today that elementary and high schools will spend a half billion dollars more to educate this year's class of youngsters than was spent in the school year before the war.

However, evidence shows that with all the additional investments in approved facilities, new buildings, motion picture films and aviation instruction, fewer teachers than ever are showing an inclination to enter the classroom.

Teachers training colleges, the National Education Association declares, are operating on a 60 per cent enrollment of the pre-war classes despite the fact that enrollments for other professions are filling up and running over.

Salaries Off Line

R. B. Marston, director of NEA's legislative-federal relations division points out that there will be 120,000 or one in eight teachers this year who will be holding only "emergency" certificates. Some of these people have never had a day of college training.

Last year, Marston said, one in every ten teachers held emergency teaching permits and before the war only one in 200 failed to have a regular teaching certificate.

Hear Appeal For Liquor License In Beaver Falls

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Judge Robert E. McCreary today took under advisement in Beaver Falls an appeal for a liquor license by the Joseph H. Thompson Post 261 of the American Legion.

The liquor board had refused the license, contending that under the quota law, Beaver Falls was assigned 18 licenses and now has 24; that the post is within 180 feet of the senior high school and that numerous protests were filed with the board.

The liquor board ruled Beaver Falls is amply provided with licensed places.

Ministers, teachers, school board members, an official of Geneva college and women's groups testified against granting a license to the Legion at the appeal hearing on Monday.

AWAITS SENTENCE FOR SLAYING OF FRIEND IN 1931

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Henry Friday, 63, of Pittsburgh today awaited court sentence in the slaying of a companion nearly 15 years ago.

A criminal jury found Friday guilty of voluntary manslaughter yesterday after witnesses testified that he shot Marshall Jones, 31, during a card game on March 1, 1931.

Testimony disclosed that Friday fled to Ohio after the shooting. He was arrested in Columbus last May.

London Squatters Appeal To Crown

Seek Action Against Move To Evict Them From Fashionable London Residences

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Communist-supported squatters who have seized fashionable London residences appealed today to the British crown for intervention against legal action to evict them as the cabinet met to consider the increasingly embarrassing situation.

Authorities were beset by mounting disorder and defiance growing out of the Communist-inspired squatter campaign.

Fifty families occupying the Swank Fountain court decided to send a petition to King George VI asking his intervention in the situation.

Squatters who took over at the Ivanhoe hotel in Bloomsbury in defiance of officials told newsmen this morning that they had spent a comfortable night, enjoying plenty of hot water for baths.

Dozen Families Installed

Robert Harding, member of the Communist party, declared "there are a dozen families already installed" at the Ivanhoe. He added: "There is lots of room for more. We hope to accommodate a further 200 families."

"The police will do their best to stop us, but we are keeping our plans secret."

Taxi drivers and others meanwhile passed hats to raise money for the feeding of the occupants who remain inside in order to keep possession.

Other people offering help tossed food through windows to those inside as policemen stood on guard at the doors.

Scotland Yard operatives meanwhile received new instructions to deal with would-be squatters. They were told to "take appropriate action to prevent further forcible entry."

U. P. Women Meet At Bethel Church

Mrs. George Martin of the Mt. Jackson U. P. church, was the leader for the day, with Mrs. W. R. Dickson, of the Highland U. P. church, in charge of the prayer items.

Rev. Marshall Wilson, pastor of the host church, was the speaker during the noon hour.

The group will meet on Tuesday morning, October 1, at the Oak Grove church.

Pennsylvania Leads Nation In Making Ice Cream

State Ahead Of Nearest Rival, New York, By 5,500,000 Gallons Per Year

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 13.—It's an ice cream sundae, ice cream soda, or just plain ice cream—Pennsylvania has it!

Statistics on ice cream production and consumption reveal that when it comes to ice cream, Pennsylvania is in a class by itself, leading out New York State by a substantial five and one-half million gallons per year.

As to flavor, vanilla is the Keystone State's favorite. Chocolate and strawberry follow in that order.

A. A. Borland, head of the dairy husbandry department at the Pennsylvania State College, sees the number of large towns in Pennsylvania as the main reason for the State's enviable position in the ice cream world.

Pennsylvania ranks second in population but first in number of large towns, towns that make the State a profitable market for any product.

But he also sees Pennsylvania as a pioneer in this business.

"The first ice cream manufacturing course in this country was taught at Penn State," Borland says. "And that was in 1892—more than 50 years ago."

Packers Demand Quick Decontrol Of Meat Prices

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Independent Meat Packers' association today demanded "immediate decontrol" of meat and livestock prices.

In telegrams dispatched during a meeting at Hershey to federal price fixing agents, the association pointed out that "the plants of many members are closed and others are closing this week because of their inability to purchase livestock at ceiling prices."

Continuance of controls was "unnecessary and not in the best interests of the public," the association asserted. The messages were sent to OPA Chief Paul Porter, Orville Erickson, head of the OPA meat division, and U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton B. Anderson.

Spokesmen forecast several thousand packing houses would close over the week-end and predicted unions would protest to Washington against the situation causing the work stoppage.

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—A complete program for Grove City's "Appreciation Day" for returned veterans is announced by H. W. Clarkson, general chairman, who states that good progress is being made by all committees. It is expected that between 1,200 to 1,500 veterans will be entertained on the afternoon and evening of September 21.

Sports and games will be offered during the afternoon, with a buffet supper for all veterans at Legion hall. A parade at 7 p. m. has enlisted many floats and marching units, while an invited list of 16 bands will compete for $250 in prizes. The evening program will feature boxing matches, a short speaking program with a memorial service, and entertainment by radio artists. Street dancing will follow.

Release On Bond Sought For Boy Held In Slaying

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Defense counsel for Charles Hazlett, Jr., 13-year-old Pittsburgh boy charged with murder of a playmate, today revealed that his release on bond will be sought in court.

The youngster, who was indicted on first degree murder charge in the slaying of Michael Garrick, 12, was in the custody of District Attorney Artemas C. Leslie.

Hazlett yesterday visited the scene of the slaying and retold to police the story of how he shot his playmate in a game of "cops and robbers". He showed police where he concealed the body, which was found last month, eight months after the slaying.

The youngster insisted that the death was accidental during his reenactment of the fatal shooting.

Coroner's Jury Says Mashank's Death Accident

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—A Coroner's jury decided Assistant U. S. Attorney George Mashank died accidentally August 21 and exonerated Thomas Manning, a Pittsburgh pipefitter, who was charged with manslaughter.

Mashank, according to testimony, had walked into a room in a Pittsburgh hotel where members of the ancient order of Hibernians had gathered. When he refused to leave, Manning said he pushed him into the hall where he fell. Mashank died a few minutes later.

Dr. T. R. Helmhold said death was due to a broken blood vein in Mashank's brain.

Engineers Society Will Meet Monday

First Meeting Of Fall Season Will Provide Electrical Program For Members

At their first meeting of the fall season in The Castleton Monday evening, the Mahoning Shenango Valley Engineers' society will have an electrical program. This will include a new talking picture by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., entitled "Summer Storm", with a talk by L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, who will discuss "How one keeps the juice on the lines".

Every industrial man is interested in his power supply, and the picture and talk will show how the local company, as part of a coordinated system, functioned during the war and is continuing to function in assuring this area an abundance of electric power for the reconversion of industry.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and reservations must be in the hands of the secretary by 10 o'clock Monday morning.

YOUNG GIANT JOINS

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—The U. S. army recruiting station forewarned the quartermaster corps after signing 18-year-old Raymond B. Anderson of Johnstown, for a hitch.

The lad stood six feet five inches in his stocking feet and weighed in at 223 pounds. And he's still growing, the recruiting officer reported.

U. S. Staff System Is Adopted By British

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Field Marshal Montgomery disclosed Wednesday that the British army is being remodeled along the lines of the American chief-of-staff system.

The chief of the British general staff also declared at a Washington news conference that continued peacetime coordination will be effected between the United States and British armed forces.

Montgomery said that in peace as in war the British and the Americans will interchange weapons, ideas, military educational formulas and tactics.

Montgomery said that development of the atomic bomb has failed to alter the classic pattern of land warfare. He predicted that battles between masses of men will continue to take place in future wars despite the military youth of nuclear energy and the development of guided missiles and other electronic weapons.

The field marshal emphasized that he regarded even closer coordination between the British and the United States armies than existed during the war as highly desirable.

More Efficient

"During the war we discovered that we didn't do things 100 percent the same way."

"For instance I discovered that the chief-of-staff system employed in the United States army made for a more efficient fighting machine all the way from staff down through division."

"In my present post as chief of the imperial general staff I have taken steps to change to that system throughout the British army."

"The same holds true in regard to weapons. We used American weapons like the 105mm field gun and found them superb. The Americans used such weapons of ours as the 25 pounder field gun and also found it good."

"We hope to continue this practice and to adopt other measures assuring closer coordination."

The hero of El Alamein was in high good humor at the Pentagon conference which preceded his call upon President Truman.

Earlier in the day he placed a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington National cemetery.

SLOW DOWN—GET THERE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The Keystone Automobile club has urged motorists to "slow down" . . . "and be sure to get there."

"We do not suggest that motorists poke along the highways at low speed, because that in itself creates congestion and causes drivers to take chances in passing slow-moving vehicles," explained Safety Director Edward P. Curran.

"However, orderly driving within the maximum limit will keep the highways clear of congestion, and facilitate movement."

VETERANS GIVE TEACHERS CIGARS INSTEAD OF APPLES

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—World War veterans enrolled at colleges today show their appreciation for their teachers with cigars, instead of the traditional apple.

Dr. Paul S. Lietz, professor of history at Chicago's Loyola university, said:

"I must get at least eight cigars a week from some of these fresh-man veterans who have become fathers."

Then he sighed:

"It wasn't like this in the old days. Frankly, I'd just as soon have an apple. I don't smoke."

Begins Term For Hold-Up Crimes

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Arzella Smith, 35, of Pittsburgh today began a four to eight-year term in western penitentiary after being convicted for a series of hold-ups, including one in which he caused his victim to lose the sight of an eye.

Smith was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Richardson in criminal court. He pleaded guilty to eight charges, including one in which he fired a shot through an automobile window causing flying glass to blind the left eye of Patrick J. Simeone, 40, of Pittsburgh.

Saturday Is Poppy Day For Ladies Of Service Star Legion

Ladies Whose Men Served In Both Wars To Sell Poppies For Welfare Work Here

Saturday will be Poppy Day for the ladies of the Service Star Legion, Inc., an organization composed of the women folks of the men who served in both wars, those wives, mothers, and sweethearts, who sacrificed on the home front while their men were away fighting for democracy.

Mayor John F. Haven has given his official stamp of approval for the day, when these poppies will be sold to raise funds for the Legion's welfare work in behalf of the boys who willingly gave their all. Many of their menfolk did not return from the conflict, while others who did come back are in need of hospital care.

When approached by the women and girls who will be aiding them tomorrow, the public is reminded that the money raised will be used in a worthwhile way, and they are asked to give substantially, so that those who are in need may have faith in those whom they protected.

The Service Star Legion was organized during the stirring days of 1917 and 1918, and they have been working ever since in all worthwhile patriotic endeavors. The Service Star Legion was the first World War organization to adopt the poppy officially as its national memorial flower. It lends a helping hand to all veteran organizations.

CHARGE CHURCH ORGANIST WITH THEFT OF GOLD

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 12. (INS)—Dorothy May Breitigan, 28-year-old church organist at Lancaster, today was awaiting sentence on two charges of larceny involving theft of gold from the Hamilton Watch Co.

Miss Breitigan pleaded guilty in Lancaster county court and will be called for sentence later, according to District Attorney John L. Hamaker.

A former employee of the Lancaster firm's dial department, Miss Breitigan was arrested August 14 by State Police Detective Harry Fitzgerald.

She allegedly confessed taking numeral discs valued at $432 which later reportedly were sold to a Philadelphia jeweler for $160, according to Fitzgerald. He said the thefts covered a three-month period and when she was arrested her pocketbook contained other discs worth $445.

Bishops Fail To Agree On Rules About Remarriage

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Bishops at the 55th triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church failed to agree today on proposal to liberalize the rules of remarriage of divorced Episcopal communicants.

The delegates debated the new law, which asserts that every case should be judged on its own merit, for more than two hours, but could reach no decision.

Under the present canon of the church, no divorced person can marry except in cases where the applicant is the "innocent party" in a divorce for adultery.

No General Statement
A report on the proposed new canon, however, asserted that there is no general statement of law which can adjudicate fairly in every case of matrimonial dislocation and desire to contract a new marriage.

The Rt. Rev. Cameron J. Davis of Buffalo, bishop of the diocese of Western New York, led the group supporting the new canon. He is chairman of a committee of 17 bishops, clergymen and laymen who drew up the proposed revisions.

Under such revisions, the responsibility of discovering whether marriage is a true union would be placed upon the bishop and a court of advisory commission.

Meanwhile, the house of clerical and lay deputies rejected a resolution asking that a proposed merger of the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches be taken up first in the House of Bishops.

Rev. F. S. Fleming, clerical deputy from the diocese of New York, opposed the resolution. He declared that the proposed merger with the Presbyterians constituted the "most critical situation" facing the Episcopal Church today.

He urged the deputies to face the proposal "on their own feet".

FOOD AND FIXINS.

Some people seem to be able to eat any kind of food regardless of the taste or appearance.

Most people prefer food which looks good and tastes good and smells good.

The single of frying beef steak about supper time makes a person hungry. When a boy sees a basket of ripe fruit he wants some.

Good cooking with proper flavoring and aroma helps both appetite and digestion.

Red radishes and green lettuce and pink tomatoes and yellow bananas and nut brown rolls make a pretty fine appearance about meal time.

Shoppers were in a futile search for fresh meats today as shortages became more acute throughout the community.

Most stores had little to offer in any kind of meat, although cold cuts, poultry and fish were in evidence. These items, coupled with butter, cheese and eggs represented the sum total in most of the cases.

Wholesale dealers could not venture any alleviation of the condition. They have been warned not to look for any shipments next week and their lockers now stand bare of meat. Butter, eggs and cheese continue to arrive.

First Baptist Pastor Celebrates Fifth Anniversary Of Ministry In New Castle

One hundred fifty members, former members and friends of the First Baptist church, East and North streets, gathered on Thursday evening in the church dining room to honor their pastor, Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, who is celebrating his fifth year of ministry in New Castle. Mrs. Hurst was likewise a special guest of honor on the occasion.

The invocation of the evening was given by Dr. J. W. Nyman, after which the guests partook of a sumptuous dinner prepared and served by section 6 of the church missionary group.

Charles I. Sauer led the diners and well wishers in spirited group singing and also sang a beautiful vocal solo during the program.

Greetings were extended to the pastor and his family by James McCallion, chairman of the board of deacons. David Nesbitt also extended greetings.

Supernumerary of the Sunday school, Paul Weller and Mrs. Weller were introduced on the program and they recounted the good work that has been done in the past five years through the ministry of Rev. Hurst.

The main address of the evening was delivered by Dr. E. W. Bloomquist, chairman of the Baptist Temple, Youngstown, O.

Rev. and Mrs. Hurst were presented with a beautiful motion picture camera from the church, luggage from the Sunday school and appropriate gifts for the Hurst children.

Special guests during the evening were John Owens, of Sharon, former choir director of the church; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly, of Ardmore, Pa., and others.

The anniversary celebration will come to a fitting climax on Sunday when Dr. Clarence S. Roddy, professor of the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Philadelphia and former pastor of the Baptist Temple of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be bringing the morning address in the church.

Monaca Woman Clips Husband

BEAVER, Pa. Sept. 13.—(INS)—Mrs. Walter Davidson Sr. of Monaca lost the non-support suit she brought against her husband.

But being a lady she took Judge Robert E. McGreevy's ruling with a smile, that is—until she got out of the court room when she promptly clipped her husband on the chin.

Like an experienced prizefighter she followed through on several more punches until spectators interrupted the unscheduled bout.

May Extend Bus Line In Croton

City To Take Action To Provide For Place To Turn Buses At City Line

OTHER NEWS OF CITY HALL AFFAIRS

City council met in the municipal building, Thursday, and members were informed by Solicitor White that, if the city desires it may rent or lease from a Croton avenue resident, a lot for the use of the Shenango Valley Transportation company to use as a "turn table."

The lot is immediately outside the city on the Harlansburg road. Councilman Joseph D. Alexander informed his colleagues that the transportation company had been petitioned to provide service to the city line but the company objected because there was no place to turn buses.

A resident offered the use of his land but because he resides outside the city Solicitor White was asked for his opinion.

Being in favor, the city indicated it would make an arrangement with him for the use of sufficient ground needed as a "turn table" providing service is extended to the city line and Harlansburg road.

It was reported that approximately 400 persons would be served by the extension.

Because the city sold a lot for taxes that had been sold previously by the county and in making a record of the sale, a county employee gave a wrong description, which prevented the city from knowing of the sale. It has come that apparently will be a move that, if accepted by the county, will prove beneficial to county, city and school tax authorities.

Solicitor Robert M. White today recommended to council, which accepted it that, the county register with the city, any property which he county sells. The city will exonerate the county of the payment of the fee of 25 cents for registration. This will enable city authorities to know the status of any property which the county may sell for taxes.

The money which the purchaser paid to the city (43) was ordered refunded to the buyer when council met Monday in city hall.

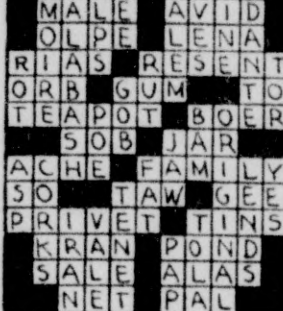

Council Thursday adopted plans and specifications for the repair of the Cascade Park driveway, broken during a big storm and also for the repair and treatment, or resurfacing of Court Street between East Washington and Ray Streets. The city will perform such work in that street as deemed necessary. However, because of lack of funds the improvement will not be put through until 1947.

City parking meters received $1-096.75 more during August 1946, than in August 1945 and $1,151.50 more in July than during July of 1945, according to City Controller W. A. Moore. He stated that parking receipts so far this year amount to about $20,000. In 1945, the total was $22,559.

Seriously Hurt In Union Battle At Camden Plant

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 13.—(INS)—One man was in serious condition today after a violence flared between rival unions at a plant in Camden.

Three AFL pickets, police said, were beaten by six men wielding short lengths of pipe. Charles Bates, 30, of Camden, one of the victims, suffered fractures of the left leg and right arm in the battle.

The riot was staged outside the John R. Evans leather plant, strike-bound for three weeks. It was the second pitched battle in the area between rival unions in less than two weeks.

Ten days ago, three CIO workers were beaten in a free-for-all at the Pennsylvania lawn mower division plant of the American Chain and Cable Co., in Philadelphia.

Police thought the latest violence was in reprisal for the earlier incident.

Three men were under arrest as a result of the Camden clubbings. Police were seeking three others.

Gen. Pershing Will Be Visited Today By President Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—President Truman today will help General of the Armies John J. Pershing celebrate his eighty-sixth birthday.

Officials at Walter Reed hospital announced that the President, who served under General Pershing's command in World War I, had arranged to call on the immortal "Black Jack" this afternoon.

Except for the presidential visit, the venerable soldier who led the American expeditionary force to victory 28 years ago will pass his birthday quietly.

His sister, Miss May Pershing, and his longtime friend, Maj. Gen. Shelly U. Marrietta, former commanding general at Walter Reed, will be among his visitors.

Brig. Gen. George C. Beach Jr., Walter Reed commander, is to express birthday greetings to the general on behalf of the hospital personnel.

Find Murdered Man In Field Near Struthers

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 13.—Sheriff Ralph E. Elser and deputies are seeking clues to the slaying of John Golonko, 39, whose body, bearing numerous stab wounds, was found in a field off Villa Maria road near Struthers. Golonko's home was on Villa Maria road.

Corner David A. Belinky said the man had been beaten about the head and stabbed with a sharp instrument. He declined to place the exact time of the murder, but said he will continue his investigation.

The body was found in Coltsville township. Golonko's car, which was found nearby, was parked on Ohio Route 616. The headlights still were burning.

Michael Volovar and George Korchnak, both of 283 Reed street, Campbell, who were passing by, told Dr. Belinky they stopped to investigate when they saw the lights of the car still on at 7:30 a. m. They said they found Golonko lying face down in a field near his car.

BUTLER, Sept. 13.—A Pittsburgh man was injured Thursday and his 1946 automobile was damaged to the extent of $1,000 in a three-car accident on Route 19, seven miles south of Zelienople.

A car, operated by Glenn A. Mangus of Zelienople, R. D. 1, according to a police report, and a car operated by Matthew M. Augustine of Youngstown, O., side-swiped a car operated by Clyde J. Moore Jr. of North Side, Pittsburgh, crashed into the rear of the Augustine machine and careened off into a ditch.

U. N. Council To Hear Of Plight Of Million D.P.'s

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 13. (INS)—John G. Winant, U. S. representative in the U. N. economic and social council, asked Thursday that the plight of one million European and Asiatic displaced persons be thrown open to full council discussion and not sidetracked to a small commission.

Winant won unanimous council agreement. Members will discuss appointment of an interim refugee commission when it has completed the agenda for its third session.

Both U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie and UNRRA Director Fiorello LaGuardia have urged appointment of an interim commission until the international refugee organization can be set up by the United Nations.

A six-nation drafting committee to plan for the transfer of the League of Nations narcotic control committee to the United Nations was appointed by the council.

The drafting committee will consist of representatives from China, Czechoslovakia, France, Peru, Russia and the United States. Russia objected to the inclusion of Spain in the United Nations committee to control drug traffic although Spain is a member of the old league committee.

Perjury Charge Is Made In Case

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 13.—James Emmet Kline, 22, of Ellwood City, commonwealth witness in the trial of Clifford W. Kline pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred by Officer Ralph A. Cole of the state police, and in default of $1,000 bail was remanded to the Butler county jail. Officer Cole accused the youth of denying from the witness stand at the Lutz trial that he, Kline, had made a statement regarding the burglary out of which the arrest of Lutz grew.

Good Taste

TWO MEN AND A GIRL

"A girl I know and of whom I'm very fond has a bad habit of 'playing me against another chap'. Frequently when I have a date with her, she has another boy there and she divides her attention between us. If girls only knew the effect this technique has on us they would change it. Don't you think so?"

Answer: I think you are entirely right! It's the worst possible technique and downright rude! It is the equivalent of proclaiming: "I'm so popular I am constantly surrounded by men. They simply can't stay away from me!"

But she fools no one for it is perfectly obvious that she arranged it all. In this era of the ubiquitous telephone, no boy would think of suddenly appearing without first calling up.

However, on the contrary, until a man has shown a definite potential interest in a girl, she should take nothing for granted. When he gives her a last minute call for dates, she should pretend (if she must) that she has something else to do and suggest that he call earlier next time.

Any man will tire of a girl who is always at his beck and call. He likes to feel that he has a little competition . . . but not too much. If he has any romantic ideas, his style will be definitely "cramped" by the appearance of a third person.

Dodds Discusses Four Mills Tax

County Controller Makes Address At State Convention Of Officials

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

In an address before the convention of county controllers in Pittsburgh this week, Lawrence county's controller, Andrew M. Dodds, discussed the four-mill personal property tax, with particular reference to amendments of 1945.

In setting out the personal properties that are taxable under the four-mill levy, he explained that they included mortgages, interest bearing accounts, but not bank accounts, building and loan accounts, or proceeds of life insurance left with the company.

Public loans, except those issued by the United States, Pennsylvania, or a municipal sub-division. Stocks and bonds, except those issued by a Pennsylvania corporation or by a foreign corporation paying a tax in Pennsylvania.

The law provides that the county commissioners shall annually furnish the assessors of the various districts of the county, blanks for the return of the tax, and the assessors in turn must furnish each taxpayer with one of the blanks.

The person receiving the blank is required to fill it out and return it within 10 days, otherwise it is the duty of the assessor to make a return from the best information available. The board of commissioners shall then revise the assessors' estimated return based upon such additional information as they may have and add 50 per cent as a penalty. This final figure is the basis for taxation although the commissioners have discretion in the matter of collecting the penalty.

Illustrating the theory that a taxpayer fears a state levy more than a local levy, Mr. Dodds pointed out that when the state had a four-mill levy the returns in Lawrence county were heavier than they have been since.

In 1935 the total personal property reported for taxation in Lawrence county was $8,677,689. In 1937 it jumped to $25,616,835 and has slumped off consistently since then. In 1946 the total return was $11,310,292. In this connection Mr. Dodds points out that many taxpayers may have sought tax-proof investments but adds this paragraph: "The 1946 valuation of $11 million, in view of the present high stock prices, certainly indicates that many taxpayers are failing to make returns, and that assessors and county commissioners are falling down upon the job."

Mr. Dodds urges that the public be informed as to the powers of the county commissioners in levying and collecting personal property taxes, and says a fully informed public should not, and we believe will not excuse any public official for failure to perform his duties in connection with this tax.

State College Dean Implores Saving Minerals

Need Conservation Program To Minimize Waste, Penn State Educator Says

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 13.—Pointing out that Pennsylvania is the leading mineral industrial commonwealth, Edward Steidle of the Pennsylvania State College voiced an appeal today for conservation of the state's mineral wealth.

"There is need," the dean of the School of Mineral Industries said, "for a true conservation program, one that will employ the principles of energetic discovery, maximum extraction, and a minimum of waste in the utilization of our minerals."

Dr. Steidle added that about 100 years ago, Pennsylvania emerged from an agrarian economy into a mineral industry economy and that today minerals furnish 67 per cent of the primary wealth of the state.

"Pennsylvania leads the nation," he explained, "not only in mineral production, but also in mineral processing. The value added by processing—transforming mineral fuels into energy or converting minerals of all classes into raw materials for industry or finished articles of commerce—frequently exceeds a billion dollars in a single year."

Mineral extractive and processing industries employ about 650,000 productive workers in Pennsylvania. Those engaged in winning minerals from the earth alone represent one of the largest single industrial groups in the state.

Some Allotments For Veterans May Be Increased Soon

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Subsistence allotments for veterans training on the job or attending college may be increased in the near future, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans administrator, revealed today.

In Cleveland to address the 57th annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, Gen. Bradley told a news conference that a VA committee is conducting a study on living costs and trends of wages. On the basis of that study, the general said, may come a new allotment rate.

Some Weak Spots
"There still are some weak spots in the VA program," Gen. Bradley admitted, "but by January 1 they should be ironed out."

"Our biggest single problem today is adjustment of National Service Life Insurance to needs and wants of veterans. Our department is adjusting up to current correspondence but there still are nearly 290,000 unidentified letters in our files."

The veterans hospitalization program is functioning smoothly, Gen. Bradley asserted. Some 22 per cent more beds have been added during the past year and nearly 4,000 doctors now are on VA hospital staffs, he said.

The process of decentralization of the VA will continue, Gen. Bradley declared, and that also should expedite veterans' business. The general stated that it still was early to determine whether "chiselers" have been eliminated from VA benefits by recently instituted reforms but added that he was certain that substantial progress in that direction was being made.

Plan For Probe Of Ship-Yard Owners

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(INS)—The House merchant marine committee announced today that a congressional investigation will be made of 19 private operators of government-owned shipyards beginning September 23.

The committee announcement said the inquiry would go into "unconscionable" profits of the 19 operators, but would not question "reasonable" profits made during the war shipbuilding boom.

The Mead committee also has announced plans to investigate the war shipbuilding industry along with other major basic war production firms.

Included in the list announced by the House committee today are six yards operated by Henry Kaiser

Minner Pitches Like Veteran In Big League Debut

Former New Wilmington High Floor Star Hurls Three Innings Against Cards

DODGERS MUST TOP CARDS TODAY

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The burden of proof now rests with the Dodgers. This is a must day for them. The must beat the Cardinals today or start figuring on a second place share of the world series swag.

Should the Dodgers lose again to the Cards today, they will be 3½ games off the pace. Of course, even if they lost the Dodgers would still have a mathematical chance to win. But we'd hate to bet on them.

Hatten vs. Munger
Leo Durocher said last night he would send his left-handed ace, Joe Hatten, to the firing line and Ed Dyer of the Cardinals intimated that if Hatten goes for the Dodgers he will counter with George Munger, the big right-hander who has won both his starts since getting out from under Uncle Sam's wing.

Both teams gave a fine example of bush league ball yesterday and watching them, one was forced to agree with Bill McKechnie, manager of the Reds, when he said recently that we won't see real major league ball for two or three more years.

The Cardinals won that important opener, 10 to 2, but despite the score there didn't seem to be that much difference in the play of the two clubs.

Minner Looks Good

The Dodgers uncovered one Paul Minner, a six-foot five-inch southpaw up from Mobile, and a New Wilmington, Pa., resident, as a replacement for Higbe, and he pitched with all the poise of a veteran for three innings until he gave away for a pinch-hitter who didn't hit. Minner allowed but one hit and fanned two men during his stay on the mound.

This lad may do the Dodgers some good in the drive to the wire provided, of course, that the Dodgers win today and tomorrow. These next two games are musts in the Dodgers' book. If they lose one of them, it probably will be just too bad. If they lose them both, good night!

Kearns Promoting Show In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Promoter Jack Kearns tonight will present what, to him at least, represents the return of big-time boxing to the Midwest.

The double-edged event pits Jake LaMotta and Bob Satterfield in one ten-round go and "Little Brother" Joey LaMotta, and Anton Raddik in the other.

This spectacle, to be held at Wrigley field, will draw 20,000 fans and a $100,000 gross, according to Kearns.

Johnny Wohlfel of Pontiac, Mich., and his teammate, Big Bill Spear of Pittsburgh, are two of the first entrants for Saturday night's midwest auto racing program to be held at the Canfield Fairgrounds where the Findlay Speedways will stage their big nine-event program.

Eagles-Cards Battle Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(INS)—It doesn't take much of a mathematician to figure that the national professional football league's ace broken field runner, pitted against its all-time T-formation flinger, adds up to thrills aplenty.

Add to that the fact that it's Friday the 13th, and you'll have a good idea why more than 90,000 fans are expected in municipal stadium tonight to see the Philadelphia Eagles clash with the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game.

The tilt is the ninth annual gridiron classic sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc., and the two-man duel should center on the Eagles' Steve Van Buren, who shattered the loop record last year with 18 touchdowns, and the Bears' aerial artist, Sid Luckman.

Both eleven are primed for victory. The Philadelphia already snared one exhibition game, 7-6, against the Green Bay Packers. The rugged Bruins—boasting all the strength of the touted Bears of old, licked the New York Giants, 19-0, and Boston Yanks, 24-17.

Sid Luckman, quarterback, Chicago Bears, completed 526 passes, making 89 successful touchdowns. His unusual style of "soft spiral" passing helps make him the Champ of all passers on the gridiron.

Feller Defeats Boston Red Sox

Struggling Bosox Need But One More Win, But It's Tough To Get

PIRATES-BRAVES SPLIT TWIN BILL

By LES CONKLIN

(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—As long as a week ago today, any combination of four Boston victories or four Detroit defeats would have eliminated the Tigers from any mathematical chance of winning the American league pennant.

Another private ambition stopped Boston yesterday. Cleveland's Bob Feller, who by a near-miracle still might equal Rube Waddell's modern strikeout record of 343 for a single season, whiffed seven Red Sox batters in beating them 4 to 1. Bob has struck out 308 men this year and has won 24 games.

Tigers Whip Yanks
Hank Greenberg and Roy Cullenbine hit homers as Detroit downed the Yankees, 6 to 4, and increased their margin over the New Yorkers to two games. It was Hank's 34th circuit clout of the season.

The White Sox-Athletics game was postponed. In a night contest, Washington scored six runs in the eighth inning and beat the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 6.

The Cards knocked out Kirby Hake in the first inning and made Stewy with four other Brooklyn hurlers in crushing the Dodgers, 10 to 2, in the opener of the crucial three-game series. They now lead the Dodgers by 2½ games.

Pirates-Braves Split

Young Monte Kennedy of the New York Giants served notice that he may make trouble for St. Louis next Tuesday when he held the Reds to two hits and beat them, 4 to 1.

Pittsburgh split a twin bill with Boston. Bucs took the opener, 1 to 0, while the Braves annexed the nightcap, 2 to 1.

The Cubs and Phillies also divided two close ones, with the Phils taking the first game, 4 to 3, and Chicago winning the second in the tenth, 5 to 4.

Robinson Signs To Meet Harris

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The New York Boxing Guild, which banned its fighters from showing in Pittsburgh, today agreed to allow Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the uncrowned welterweight champion, to sign for a scheduled 10-round fight with Ossie (Bulldog) Harris in Forbes field October 1.

Originally, the guild refused to allow its fighters to come to the Steel City because the local boxing commission held up the purses of two member fighters—Lee Q. Murray and Perk Daniel. In a special meeting, however, it was agreed that Robinson had pledged to fight Harris before Murray and Daniel staged their fiasco here last summer.

The fight, which will be staged for charity, will mark Robinson's first appearance in the ring since NBA Champion Marty Servo refused for the third time, to meet him for the title last Friday in New York.

Increased Expense Reason Why $2 For Fish License Needed

State Fish commission has no muskie hatchery, according to W. M. Roberts, member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Fisheries.

He made the foregoing statement today to clarify the report made yesterday after the Lawrence County Sportsman's association had voted in favor of a $2 fee for a fishing license.

Mr. Roberts stated that, he said the general expenses of the commission, like every other business, has increased and it is anticipated that there would be further increases in expense, hence the belief that an increase in the cost of a license would be justified.

He stated also that the commission has employed a biologist who was sought by the commissions of other states and that investigations would be conducted to learn in what streams certain kinds of fish will thrive.

Examinations of Lawrence county streams will also be made, he stated.

Uncle Sam Calls Pitt Grid Star

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Fred Sherman, Pitt's 160-pound triple threat back, has left the Panthers team for services in Uncle Sam's Army.

Coach Wesley Fesler disclosed today that the Frosh back received notice of induction and has been ordered to proceed to Wilkes-Barre, from where he will leave for an army induction station.

Lebanon Valley Signs Up Feeser

ANNVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Lebanon Valley College Tuesday announced appointment of Grant (Scoop) Feeser, of Lebanon, as acting head coach of the school's gridiron team succeeding Jerry Frock. Feeser tutored Lebanon high school gridders for several seasons prior to his dismissal last spring. Frock quit the flying Dutchmen 48 hours after fall practice started.

Johnny Gilbert, Bobby Permaine, Johnny Breen and Sterling Young, famed veterans of the saddle, will ride during the 18-day Atlantic City autumn race meeting, which begins next Monday.
